ABOUT

My name is Zhe Nan, and you're welcome to call me Maggie:)

During the past 15 months, I have been worked as frontend/full-stack developer. This experience has given me strong logical thinking and analytical skills, but I've been always kept the faith that I will be a User Experience designer someday.

Three years ago, my passion about UX Design drove my way from Electronics Engineering to Information Science; this time, I want to take a step further and make it my lifelong career.
